MESSAGES

from

MEMBERS OF THE NATIONAL SMALL SCULPTURE COMMITTEE

on the occasion of

THE OPENING OF THE THIRD ANNUAL EXHIBITION

of

SMALL SCULPTURES IN WHITE SOAP
FOR THE PROCTER & GAMBLE PRIZES

¶

THEODORE HANFORD POND

Director, Dayton Art Institute
DAYTON, OHIO

It is my sincere belief that the soap sculpture idea initiated by Procter and Gamble has done more to create a national interest in sculpture and a true appreciation of this great art than any other agency has ever been able to accomplish.

¶

ELLSWORTH WOODWARD

Director, Newcomb College, School of Art
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

White soap as an easily available medium for carving made instant appeal to me. When I saw the first exhibition my hopes were confirmed. The result was admirable. This competition should stimulate experiment and bring out unexpected talent for sculptural expression.

¶

MRS. J. C. BRADFORD

President, Nashville Art Association
NASHVILLE, TENN.

Think soap sculpture a great movement, a wonderful medium for the art of sculpture and within the reach of all, which tends to encourage and make democratic art in America.

¶

VICTOR S. HOLM

Sculptor, Art School, Washington University
ST. LOUIS, MO.

I think soap an excellent medium for small sculpture for the beginner as well as for the older student. It certainly helps to popularize art among people who never give it a thought and is a means of bringing out hidden talent, especially among children.

¶

ALBIN POLASEK

Sculptor, Art Institute of Chicago
CHICAGO, ILL.

I am glad to see students of sculpture experimenting in carving soap because this medium calls for the same compact treatment as marble. Beginners studying composition are apt to make thin unsculpturesque objects which are fortunately impossible in soap.
